
Reply

Sinéad Ní Bhroin <sinead.nibhroin@sinnfein.ie>
To: barry.mcmullin@dcu.ie

19 February 2016 at 14:12

Barry, a chara

Many thanks for your mail.

Please find below a link to Sinn Féin's general election manifesto, you will find our commitment's to the Environment on page 49. Our approach to the manifesto is quite succinct in this election, setting out a snapshot of key proposals.

Sinn Féin General Election Manifesto 2016 - <http://www.sinnfein.ie/manifesto2016>

In government Sinn Féin will engage with climate change experts to set specific targets and create a roadmap to reduce CO2 emissions. We will then develop an interdepartmental strategy to meet carbon emissions reduction targets, and ensure there is innovation in the green economy, the provision of public transportation and so forth.

In the context of the commitment above we would be extremely interested in exploring how best to engage and include people across the island in the debate and decision-making necessary to tackle climate change and deliver sustainable energy policies.

We look forward to discussing the proposal for Citizens' Convention for a Post-Carbon Ireland with you and your colleagues over the coming months.

Is mise le meas,

Sinéad Ní Bhroin

Policy Unit

Sinn Féin